Solidarity can make different (Fukushima,)

I always tell my friends and families that solidarity can make different and Fukushima is the example to prove that Solidarity can definitely make difference. We can see here the changes, and the beauty of Fukushima. Fukushima and its people suffered tremendous damage from the disaster, but they have stood up strong, and put great effort into recovering work. Fukushima has waked up better than before. We can see here the peace, harmony, joy and happiness. I can feel it because I live in Fukushima. I enjoy the environment, Culture, foods and it's very safe. I want to share my experience to the Nepalese people and to the world. That's why learn in Fukushima.

If you are planning to travel to Fukushima, please don't worry. Significant progress has been made for the recovery it is the best example to us for the work of recover, reconstruction and the team work. We can learn many things from Fukushima. Last year Nepal had been suffered from big earthquake and was still not able to wake up so it's my request to my country take lesson from Fukushima. And I am happy to be here.

Fukushima is always welcoming you.

Thank you
